

Please explain what changed in the last fifty years that now allows filthy language, quasi-pornographic videos, socially unacceptable expressions and reports on all of the above, in prime time or otherwise?

I thought the primary purpose of the FCC was to assign frequencies, authorizations to broadcast, monitor morality and clamp down hard on those who ignore the rules, not wink at infractions of good taste. Perhaps you should take a look at the prison populations and figure out who/what provided the childhood training for the inmates.
